THROUGH THE STATE.

How the Voters Voted in the Different Towns and Cities.

JOHNSTOWN GOES REPUBLICAN

Harrisburg Swept by the Democrats and the Public Improvement Proposition Carries by an Immense Majority.

THE RETURNS FROM PITTSBURG

PITTSBURG, February 19.—After one of the fiercest and stubbornly contested campaigns the heaviest vote ever polled in a municipal election in Pittsburg, was polled Tuesday and at 10 o'clock last night, the returns were coming in slowly. Enough has been received to make it almost certain that the present republican administration has been defeated by the republican-democratic, or citizens' tickets by a good sized majority.

Republican Chairman Brown claims that Joseph E. Lewis, the present incumbent, has been elected controller by 5,000 majority. The citizens' chairman on the other hand, claims the election of John B. Larkin by between 10,000 and 15,000 majority. Considering the heated campaign, the lack of trouble at the polls is remarkable. While numerous fights took place and much bitterness shown by the workers, nothing serious transpired, and only four or five arrests were made.

The fight for controller was the principal battle but with it in many wards, the contest for councilman was almost as exciting. The new councils will probably be republican, but the citizens have elected quite a number who, it is claimed, will give the fusionists a good sized working minority.

JOHNSTOWN, January 19.—The republicans carried the city in Tuesday's municipal election by majorities ranging from 500 to 700. John Pendry, republican, will succeed L. D. Woodruff, democrat, as mayor. Alexander Wilson and Charles H. Wehn, both republicans, were elected controller and treasurer, respectively, and will succeed republicans in office.

The total vote cast was about 6,300, which is over 400 below that cast in the municipal election of 1899. A fierce snow storm raged all day and kept many voters at home.

WILKESBARRE, February 19.—A heavy vote was polled at the city election Tuesday. The republicans elected the following ticket over the citizens ticket. Mayor Charles H. Price; treasurer, Owen D. Jones; controller, Fred Demois. A number of councilmen were elected on non partisan issues.

HARRISBURG, February, 19.—Vance C. McCormick, the democratic nominee for mayor, is elected by 2,000 majority over Dr. Samuel F. Hasseler, republican. The democrats also claim the election of John K. Royal, city treasurer; William H. Moore, city controller, and James H. W. Howard, William M. McGastrock and George W. Leisman, jr., city assessors.

PHILADELPHIA, February 19.—In the municipal election here Tuesday the republican administration forces won practically a sweeping victory. The election was for a city solicitor, six city magistrates, city councilmen and school directors. The electors also voted on a proposition to increase the city's debt five millions of dollars. For city solicitor, John L. Kinsey, the republican and union party candidate and the present incumbent, was elected by a large majority over Charles C. Binney, the democratic and municipal league fusion candidate. Each elector was allowed by law to vote for four of the six magistrates to be elected, thus giving minority to representation. The six successful candidates are:

Robert J. Moore, David S. Scott, James A. Briggs and W. J. Hughes, republicans, and James E. Gorgan and Thomas E. Fitzpatrick, democrat and Municipal league fusionists. The defeated candidates are William R. Knight, jr., and James B. Sheehan, of the union party.

The proposition to increase the city debt was carried by a substantial majority.

There were numerous close contests for councilmen in the several wards and it was quite late before definite results were known.

LEWISTOWN, Pa., February 19.—The democrats had a walkover at the general elections here Tuesday. Practically all of the small officers were elected. Calvin Orr, democrat, was elected auditor; Robert W. Patton and Frank J. Zerbe, republican justice of the peace, and Hiram D. Yeaman, democrat, high constable.

WILLIAMSPORT, February 19.—At midnight Tuesday the indications that John F. Leedlein, democrat, is elected mayor, over James N. Kline, republican, by from 50 to 100 majority.

LOCK HAVEN, February 19.—Joseph Haberstroh, democrat was Tuesday elected City Treasurer over Jesse Ricker. The Democrats elected four Councilmen and three of the four School Directors. The new City Council will be entirely Democratic.

CLEARFIELD, February., 19—The democratic ticket carried the borough by the usual majority of 200. A large vote was out.

ALTOONA, February 19.—Altoona elected the democratic candidates for Mayor, Treasurer and Controller, S. Hoyer, Fred Sheffield and Joseph Hammer, respectively' defeating the republican candidates, John Plummer, George Harnham and J. Leamer.

About 6,000 votes were polled, a large number for a local election. William T. Howard, independent candidate for mayor, contributed to the defeat of the Republican ticket. Hoyer'r majority may reach 1,200.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT LOGANTON.

Roy Berry While Shooting at Mark Receives a Bullet Which Ends His Life.

A fatal shooting accident that occurred at Loganton Saturday forenoon about 10:30 o'clock resulted in the death of Roy Berry, the 11 year-old son of Grant Berry, and has cast a gloom over the entire community.

Roy Berry, Grant Herlacher and Ralph Berry, all boys of about the same age, were in an alley behind a barn shooting at a mark. The boys had Clement Herlacher's rifle.

Raymond Herlacher loaded the gun and while handling the weapon it was accidentally discharged, the ball striking Roy Berry under the right arm. He lived only a few minutes after the accident occurred.

Temperance Rally at Blanchard.

A temperance rally was held in the Disciple church in Blanchard Friday evening. The meeting was called for the purpose of devising ways and means to contest the application for a license in her neighboring town. Since a license in either town would effect both alike owing to their proximity to each many of our people accepted the call from Eagleville to "come over into Macedonia and help us." The attendance was large and much enthusiasm manifested. Speeches were made by Rev. M. C. Frick, Rev. Charles Frick, Squire John Liggett, John McGhee Esq., and Capt. J. A. Quiggley. Thirty-five dollars was raised in a few minutes with which to meet expenses. A remonstrance was signed by those present and will be circulated throughout Liberty township. Clement Dale, Esq., of Bellefonte, has been retained as counsel by the temperance people.

Train Crew Will be Tried for Murder.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 17.—The coroner's jury investigating the death of Morris Burd, the Bellefonte drover, who was killed in a collision of cattle and passenger trains on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad last Monday, Friday, found a verdict charging Engineer Jackson, who confessed he fell asleep at the throttle; Fireman Echeles and Brakeman Lewis with criminal negligence.

The jury recommended that these men be held to await the return of the grand jury.

Immersed in Icy Waters.

Twenty-four persons were immersed in the icy waters of Marsh creek in twenty minutes Sunday afternoon by Rev. George Stanley West pastor of the Baptist church at Blanchard. Sixteen were men and eight women. A hole eight by sixteen feet was cut through twelve inches of ice and the water was waist deep. During the time required the minister stood in the water with ordinary clothes and with head uncovered. An assemblage of four hundred people witnessed the immersions.

The election took place at the regimental headquarters in Altoona Monday. Major John S. Bare was elected to the lieutenant Colonelcy and Captain S. H. Hughes, of Company F. Indiana, was named Major Barne's successor. The headquarters of the regiment will be removed to Lewistown.

DANISH TREATY RATIFIED

All Obstacles to Acquisition of the Antilles Now Removed.

CONSIDERATION OF MILLIONS

Convention With Denmark Approved Without Making an Amendment to it in Any Particular.

BACON AMENDMENT VOTED DOWN

WASHINGTON, February 18 —Monday, in a little more than an hour, the Senate disposed of the treaty with Denmark ceding to the United States, for a consideration of $5,000,000, the islands of St. Thomas, St. John and St Croix, composing the group of the Antilles known as the Danish West Indies and lying just east of Porto Rico, and thus, so far as this country is concerned, consummated a transaction which has been under consideration intermittently since the administration of President Lincoln.

Senator Bacon proposed an amendment eliminating the paragraph in the treaty giving authority to congress to fix the civil and political rights of the inhabitants, but it was voted down by a viva voce vote. Senator Collom then explained the provisions of the treaty in detail. The resolution to ratify was adopted without division. In open session, after an extended debate, the senate passed the bill establishing a permanent census office. The discussion related principally to the collection and publication by the director of the census of statistics respecting the production of cotton.

Senator Collom explained all the provisions of the treaty and gave a detailed account of the resources of the islands and of their trade value to the United States. He said the provision affecting the civil rights of the inhabitants was similar to the provision on the same subject in the Spanish treaty concerning Porto Rico.

Senator Collom said that in taking the island the United States would assume no burden of debt, as by the terms of the agreement all claims held by Denmark against the insular treasury would be cancelled. He placed the total of these claims at $2,000,000. He also explained the nature of the obligations the United States would assume with reference to the St. Thomas Floating Dock Company, and the West India and Panama Company, saying that on the telegraph franchise it would be necessary to pay a subsidy of $4,000 per year for three or four years, and that in both cases there was an agreement to protect the charters for the time granted by Denmark. He also gave a detailed history of the St. Croix Sugar Company, explaining that the Government of Denmark had assumed debts amounting to about $700,000 for that concern, but had agreed to wind up the affairs of the company as soon as practicable, thus relieving the United States of all complications on account of that company.

The harbor of St. Thomas Island was described as one of the safest and best in the West Indies and the importance of its possession from a strategic point of view was enlarged upon. He said that the control of that harbor commands the military situation as far as necessary in Cuba and that if we are to build a canal across the Isthmus of Panama the ownership of the harbor by the United States is essential, as it guards the approach to it.

Mr. Allison vigorously opposed the provision, maintaining that the cotton statistics gathered by the department of agriculture were complete and accurate and that no necessity existed for their duplication. Despite his opposition, the provision was inserted in the bill.

Several other bills on the calendar were passed, among them one extending the charters of national banks. Mr. Aldrich, chairman of the finance committee, explained that the measure extended no new privileges to national banks, but simply enabled those whose charters were about to expire to renew them.

Death of a Young Lady.

Death of Miss Marion Milliken.

Miss Marion Milliken, one of the best known and oldest residents of Bellefonte, died Tuesday morning about 8 o'clock in her apartments at the home of Mrs. Louisa Harris on North Allegheny street—formerly her own home for many years—after a prolonged sickness due to affection of the brain.

Miss Milliken was born in Mifflin county about seventy-three years ago and was the daughter of Foster Milliken and a sister of the late James Milliken who died just two weeks ago today in New York. For many years Miss Milliken resided in Bellefonte and was actively identified with various religious and charitable organizations. A consistent member of the Presbyterian church her life was largely devoted to church work. For the past several years she has spent the winter months in Plainfield, N. J., at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Samuel Milliken, returning for the summer to Bellefonte.

Shortly after her return to Bellefonte last June from a visit to Plainfield, she was taken sick and since that time had been a helpless invalid. Surrounded with every care and attention her declining days were made as comfortable and easy as loving hearts and tender hands could minister.

Miss Milliken was the last member of the Milliken family once prominent in social and business circles of Bellefonte. The house in which she died was once the home of her brother, Thompson Milliken, and latterly the home of her mother, brother James and herself. After the death of her mother a number of years ago, the property was sold and since then, when in Bellefonte, she occupied apartments with Miss Magill, though last June upon her return from Plainfield she took up her residence in her old home with Mrs. Harris, where she died.

The funeral will take place this morning at 11:30 o'clock from the Harris residence. Rev. Dr. William Laurie, of the Presbyterian church, will conduct the funeral services and the interment will be made in the family plot in the Union cemetery.

THE PACIFIC CABLE

Government Ownership Bill Urged for Enlightenment of Philippines.

THE REPORT TO BE FILED TODAY

House Committee Gives the Cost of Construction at $10,000,000—England, Germany and France Own Cables to Their Colonies.

COST AND RUNNING EXPENSES

Washington, Feb. 17.—The report to be filed to-day by the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce recommending the passage of the bill introduced by Representative Corliss providing for Government ownership of a Pacific cable, says that the United States, by the annexation of Hawaii and the acquisition of the Philippines and other islands, assumed the responsibility of maintaining peace in the Pacific Ocean. Representative Corliss, who wrote the report, continues:—

"The future success and prosperity of these islands will largely depend upon the facilities extended by our Government for the advancement and enlightenment of the people there. This can be accomplished through the medium of cable communications. The advancement of our own people and the benefit of rapid communication through the telephone, telegraph and railway lines illustrate the advantages and the progress that may be achieved through cable messages."

Regarding Government ownership of cables, Mr. Corliss says England for fifty years has been constantly acquiring, by purchase and construction, cable communication with her vast possessions, until she has expended upward of $100,000,000 for this purpose, and operates her own cables connecting her colonies. She is now constructing a Pacific cable from Vancouver to Australia, at a cost of nearly $9,000,000, and in order to give her tradesmen and manufacturers the benefit of this communication at the least possible expense, has fixed a rate of 2 shillings, or 50 cents per word, for cable messages from Vancouver to New Zealand.

"France, Germany and other nations are not sleeping upon their rights, as the people of the United States have been," comments Mr. Corliss, "but are establishing Government telegraphic communication with their respective possessions. I, therefore, contend that the Pacific cable should be owned, controlled and operated by the Government of the United States.

"The right to construct and operate the Pacific cable is a public utility or franchise held up by the people. Its control is an inherent right of the nation; its construction and operation necessarily will become, for a great many years, a monopoly and should not be transferred from the control of the people."

The report says: General Greely, chief of the Signal Service of the War Department, who has given the subject careful consideration, and constructed several hundred miles of cable under the control of the War Department, estimates the entire cost of a Pacific cable, including ships and all possible contingencies, at $10,000,000, and places the annual expenses at $525,000. His judgment is confirmed by the opinion of Rear Admiral R. B. Bradford, chief of the Bureau of Equipment of the navy.

A minority of the committee recommend private ownership of the cable.

Skin Came Off With Clothing.

John Fenner, employed in a basket factory at Coudersport, met with a painful accident Thursday. While assisting to put a wooden plug in a four-inch steam pipe which had bursted, the plug became loosened and blew from the pipe. Mr. Fenner who was standing directly in front of the pipe received the full force of the steam, which drove him back against a pile of lumber. Before he could get out of the course of the steam his right leg, from the knee to the foot, was so badly scalded that when he removed his clothing portions of the skin adhered to the garments.

LIVING IN LONDON.

It Is Not a Good Place For a Man of Small Income.

An American who in the classical language of his country is at present "located" in London wants to know whether any city in the world is quite so niggardly as our town. He has been going the round of the London restaurants and has encountered in the management of them a spirit which distresses him. "There is, to begin with," he says, "a charge of from twopence to sixpence for guarding your hat and coat in the cloakroom, and a tip in addition is expected. You want to wash your hands—another twopence or another sixpence and another tip. You take up the menu, and, behold, there is an intimation that a charge of threepence each person will be made under the guise of 'table money.' The charge varies according to the nature of the place. Threepence is the lowest and sixpence perhaps the average. At a great many restaurants it is 1 shilling and in at least two that I have visited 1s. 6d. The only difference is that in the lower priced restaurants it is called 'table money' and in the higher priced ones placed under the captivating heading of 'couvert.' To my mind, an entrance fee frankly demanded at the door would be much less offensive than to find yourself asked at the end of a dinner to pay for the trouble and expense of cleaning up the cutlery you have used."

His conclusion of the whole matter is that "London lives by imposing a fixed tariff on the accessories that in every other city I have ever been to are thrown in gratis," and he thinks that being a gentleman is one of the most expensive professions an Englishman can have. He declares it to be an utter delusion that London is a cheap place to live in. "For the poor man," he says, "the man whose income is less than £800 a year, there is no city where less can be had in the way of comforts and even the necessities of life. In New York it is only the luxuries that cost. The expenses of everyday living may be as great or as small as one cares to make them. New York, in fact, is laid out for the poor man. From the transportation system to the price of such fundamental charges on the household treasury as coal, ice, fuel, meat, bread, milk and fruit, almost everything conspires to bring him in a good return for a very small outlay. All these things are cheaper in New York than in London."—London Chronicle.

Bills In Congress.

The words "has introduced a bill in congress," applied to a senator or representative, usually sound much larger than their ordinary meaning warrants. In order properly to estimate the value of the introduction of a bill one must remember that of 12,000 or 15,000 measures introduced a few hundred only are passed. As for proposed amendments to the constitution, the infant mortality among them is appalling. Each new congress sees a score or more of proposals for a "sixteenth amendment to the constitution." We shall doubtless some time have such a thing, yet three amendments, all of which were consequences of a great civil war, represent the only changes made in the constitution since the presidency of Thomas Jefferson.—Youth's Companion.

Houses and Superstitions.

"Real estate men are gradually forgetting most of the old time superstitions which used to cause us much trouble," said a dealer the other day. "The number of houses which cannot be rented or sold on account of being haunted or because some terrible crime was committed on the premises is rapidly decreasing. We run across only a few people who balk at living in house No. 13. Even elderly men who have made big fortunes are beginning to believe that there is nothing in the old saying that the aged rich man builds a mansion to die in."—New York Tribune.

The Whip Tree.

In the island of Jamaica grows a tree, with the botanic name Daphne lagetto, from the branches of which native workmen make peculiarly strong and excellent whips, which have the handle and lash all of a piece. The handle consists of a part of the stem retaining the bark. For the lash the stem is deprived of bark and then split into strips, which are woven together in a flexible cord six or seven feet in length. The proper taper is afforded by detaching more and more of the strips as the end of the lash is approached.

What She May Expect.

The Goal of Love is Marriage and the Goal of Marriage is Maternity.

When a young man and young woman are very much in love every step of life they take is timed to the music of the wedding march. The happy consummation may be years away, but down the path of the years the clear eyes of love discern the spot which some day they shall call home. And when the marriage is consummated and the home founded another thought begins to fill the minds of wife and husband, a thought that lies too deep for words, the thought of a cooing baby voice, of the patter of tender baby feet and the music of happy baby laughter.

If the love of man and woman leads to marriage, and marriage looks to motherhood, what is the plain and obvious duty of the woman about to assume the obligations of wifehood and motherhood? It is her duty to prepare herself for her own sake and the sake of the children that may be given her, as well as for the sake of her husband and her home.

HOW TO PREPARE.

The first thing to do is to cure diseases of the delicate organism which undermine the health and strength. Regularity should be established, disagreeable and weakening drains must be stopped, weakness must be cured.

"I have taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Miss M. Fyfe, of Orilla, Simcoe Co., Ont., "and two bottles of the 'Pleasant Pellets,' as you advised for congestion of the uterus, and for weakness, and can safely say that your medicine has been the means of restoring me to good health again, which I had not had for over three years, until taking your medicine. I thank you for your kind and prompt attention to my letter asking advice."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription meets the needs of women at every period of life. It is invaluable in that transition period when the girl becomes a woman, establishing regularity and promoting the general health. It dries offensive and enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. From the time of the first change from girlhood to womanhood until the last change of life, in all the weakness of womanhood and trials of motherhood Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a true woman's friend. It makes women strong and well.

"It is a pleasure for me to recommend your medicine, 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. Rhoda Russell, of Corbet, Navarro Co., Texas. "I had suffered for years with a disagreeable drain and other female troubles, but now, thanks to your medicines, I am much better and your medicines have done me more good than all else. I took nine bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and six of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Had it not been for Dr. Pierce's medicines no doubt I would have suffered continually the rest of my life. I shall always praise these preparations. The cost of them is so little compared with the good I felt, yet I owe you for what you have done for me."

THE NEXT STEP

in wifely preparation is to prepare for motherhood. Preparation by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will give bodily strength and mental cheerfulness. It will banish that feeling of fear and apprehension which so many women suffer from at this time. It will encourage the appetite, induce refreshing sleep, and make the baby's advent practically painless.

"I was pleased that Dr. Pierce answered my letter," writes Mrs. C. W. Young, of 21 South Regent Street (Lee Park), Wilkesbarre, Penna. "I had several mishaps before my husband persuaded me to take your medicine. My back used to almost break when at work and I would get sick at my stomach and have such headaches I did not know what to do; they used to set me nearly crazy, and I used to dread to get up. I felt so bad. Then I began taking your medicine. When baby was expected I took it all the time I was that way. I felt fine all the time and I never get those dizzy spells now. I hardly ever have a nervous headache any more. I have a perfect romp of a boy; he is the light of our home. I am now twenty years old and my baby is almost eight months old. I feel well, and weigh 180 pounds, and the baby 23½ pounds. We feel very grateful for the good your medicine did for us. We are both hearty, thanks to Dr. Pierce's medicine."

FOR BABY'S SAKE

the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is advised for all expectant mothers. It not only helps the mother but helps the child. All the child's strength must come from the mother. "Favorite Prescription" gives the mother strength to give her child.

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" and it is absolutely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

Women suffering from chronic ailments are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All letters are privately read and privately answered and the written confidences of women are guarded by the same strict professional privacy observed by Dr. Pierce in his personal consultations with women at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute. The invitation to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free is not to be confounded with the spurious offers of medical advice which are made by irresponsible persons without knowledge or professional experience.

FOURTH CLASS POSTMASTERS

Will be Pleased to Read This New Order.

A special from Washington, D. C. says: The fourth class postmasters, numbering over 70,000, and hitherto without protection from arbitrary removal will not, hereafter, be removed except for cause and on charges proved.

Senators and representatives at the post office department Friday were told when they called to make customary requests for changes in fourth-class postoffices, that removals would only be made upon charges and proof that good cause existed for making them in each individual case.

This is a radical reform provided for in an order issued by Postmaster General Payne, and it is assumed under the direction of President Roosevelt.

Senators and representatives received the news with mingled feelings. They have hitherto had an almost complete control over the removal and appointment of fourth-class postmasters, and regarded the offices as "patronage," in the fullest sense of that term. Protest is already coming from them, and there may be serious contention over the matter.

Clerk's Wise Suggestion.

"I have lately been much troubled with dyspepsia, belching and sour stomach," writes M. S. Mead, leading pharmacist o Attleboro, Mass. "I could eat hardly anything without suffering several hours. My clerk suggested I try Kodol Dyspepsia Cure which I did with most happy results. I have had no more trouble and when one can go to eating mince pie, cheese, candy and nuts after such a time, their digestion must be pretty good. I endorse Kodol Dyspepsia Cure heartily. "You don't have to diet. Eat all the good food you want but don't overload the stomach. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests your food. C. M. Parrish.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK

The Labor Situation has Improved During the Past Week

A LARGE NUMBER OF BUYERS

In Spite of Heavy Losses Through the Elements—Higher Prices Leading Agriculture Products.

WEEKLY REPORT OF R. G. DUN & CO.

NEW YORK, February 15.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Business continues to progress satisfactory, notwithstanding heavy losses through the elements. The new year has been usually handicapped in this way, floods and snow blockades being closely followed by fires and explosions, destroying much property and retarding traffic. The labor situation has distinctly improved during the past week. Disputes at woolen mills were adjusted except as to the Weavers, threatened disturbance in coal mines averted while some railway employes received voluntary advances in wages.

In the iron and steel industry it is now being demonstrated that there is such a thing as too much prosperity. During the last few years there has been such a marvelous expension in domestic business that the capacity of furnaces and mills, as well as transporting facilities, have failed to keep pace. The result is a gradual falling behind with delivers and a tendency of buyers to send orders abroad whenever needs are urgent. One case is now in evidence of steel rails to be delivered at a Florida port, which, after paying the duty, will cost $2 a ton more than the regular domestic price. Yet home producers are fully sold up to about September 1. According to the Iron Age pig iron production during January was at the record breaking rate of 1,450,000 tons and the reduction in furnace stocks indicated that consumption was still greater. It is remarkable that these stocks are now only 154,200 tons against 670 531 tons on October 1, 1900, while during that time the weekly output increased from 223,169 tons to 340,-612 on February 1, 1902 Unfortunately the present production is below these record-breaking figures because the recent storm disorganized the freight movement and many furnaces are now banked through lack of coke.

An unusually large number of buyers in the Boston footwear market promises much business, though there is some hesitation about paying the recently advanced prices. In the textile industries there is notable strength and activity.

Higher prices were the rule in the markets for the leading agricultural staples.

There was a decrease of western receipts of wheat to 2,294,932 bushels, against 2,940,368 last year, and of corn to 1, 351,600 bushels, compared with 4,402,-529 a year ago. If present high figures are not attractive enough to bring out a more liberal movement there is evidence of light supplies and prospect of continued strength. On the other hand, some neutralizing influence must be recognized in exports of wheat, flour included, from all ports of the United States, aggregating only 2,429,820 bushels, against 3,999,053 bushels last year, while Atlantic ports sent out but 896,075 bushels of corn compared with 3,826,692 a year ago.

Failures for the week numbered 240 in the United States, against 257 last year, and thirty-three in Canada against forty last year.

Prevalency of Kidney Trouble.

So prevalent and deceptive is kidney trouble that it very often becomes well advanced before it is even suspected, therefore, it behooves all to be on the lookout. Should you be ill, or not feeling well, it would be wise to first pay attention to the kidneys and ascertain if they are the cause of your trouble.

A simple method of finding out if your kidneys are at fault has often been called to the attention of our readers through Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root advertising in the columns of this paper, and it is now repeated for the benefit of those who may be interested. Viz; "Fill a bottle with urine and set aside for twenty-four hours or so, and if it shows a brick-dust sediment or cloudy appearance, or if the urine is scanty or profuse, or if it is found necessary to go often through the day, or get up many times during the night, you may be sure your kidneys need attention.

After careful inquiry we find Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, is remarkably successful in the quick relief and cure of the diseases for which it is recommended. Their is hardly a drug store in the land that does not deep, and highly recommend this celebrated preparation for kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

By special arrangement every reader of this paper may have a sample bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root by mail, free, (if they have not already had one), by sending their address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

HE FILLED THE BUCKET.

A Story of Grant When He Was a "Pleb." at West Point.

There is a story told of General Grant when a pleb. He had just entered on his first day in "pleb." camp. A first classman who had noticed the boy's strong build intimated to him it would be a pleasure to have him call immediately at the senior's tent. Grant went. There is a rule at West Point, which was a rule then as well, that any cadet who asks another to perform menial labor for him shall be dismissed from the service. The first classman knew too much to ask his pleb. visitor outright to do anything of the kind, but here is the way he went at it:

"I presume, Mr. Grant, that you have lived on a farm, and, this being the case, you have had undoubtedly a good opportunity to note the effect of the sun's rays on certain objects. Now, if you had left a water bucket that was innocent of holding a single drop of the fluid out in the sun from its rising to its setting, what do you think, sir, would be the particular effect upon that particular water bucket?"

"I think," said Grant, "that it would get warped and leaky."

"Very good, Mr. Grant. You show erudition beyond your years. Now, if you will notice my water bucket, you will see that it is as dry as a chip. Now, by the further exercise of your knowledge, Mr. Grant, can you tell me by what means I may prevent the warping and leaking of my bucket?"

"Have it filled," said Grant.

"Very good again, Mr. Grant, but note that you said 'have it filled,' not 'fill it.' That necessarily means that some one must fill it for me. You have shown so much acumen that I fear to violate your prescription either in letter or in spirit, which I should do if I presumed to carry the bucket to the water tank myself."

Grant filled the bucket.

PROTECTION OF WORDS.

A Plea For a Rest For Our Familiar Quotations.

In these days when everybody is writing and everybody seems to succeed would it not be well to start a society for the protection of words and phrases? Many of these are so brutally overworked by the amateur. The winged words, the words that burn, the thoughts that breathe, the telling phrases, do they not clamor loudly for a rest? That very sentence affords an illuminating example of what I mean. How apt, how vivid, how expressive it would be if all its epithets had not lost their vitality through overwork! To the sated reader the whole sentence is but the echo of an echo. It not merely means nothing, but it is robbed even of its sound and fury.

The greenhorn that complained of "Hamlet" that it was too full of quotations unconsciously expressed a great fact through the medium of a bull. In a wrongheaded way he pointed out that constant reiteration has reduced the grandest passages in the language to mere commonplaces. Give our familiar quotations a rest. Lay to sleep our household words. Let fortune for awhile cease to favor the brave. Let us feign that the poet is made. Let a man who would steal another's thunder be arrested for felony. Let us win no more golden opinions. Let the favored few withdraw to some select seclusion and the countless thousands to some dry eyed privacy.

Thus may nouns, adjectives and phrases, after a long rest, reawaken with the freshness of the morning upon them, their original meanings recreated; energetic, effective, brilliant, as on the day when they were first conceived and brought forth.—Era.

Thought She Was a Calf.

When Mme. Schumann-Heink was thirteen, her father was transferred to Gratz, where a singing teacher, Marietta von Leclair, recognizing the young girl's talent, offered to give her singing lessons without compensation. For two years she studied nothing but solfeggios. Then she began learning songs. She had a very deep contralto without any high notes at that time. One day a caller, hearing her sing Schubert's "Der Tod und das Madchen" in an adjoining room, said to her teacher, "I did not know that you taught young calves."

"She is not a young calf," replied Marietta von Leclair. "Some day she will be a great singer."—Gustav Kobbe in Woman's Home Companion.

The Antiquity of Wheat.

The Chinese cultivated wheat 2,700 years before the beginning of the Christian era, always considering it as a gift direct from heaven. Scientific agriculturists are of the opinion that it was widely known and cultivated by prehistoric man. At the present time it is the principal bread corn of the leading European nations and is fast supplanting the use of maize, or Indian corn, in the American states. The Egyptians attributed its origin to Isis and the Greeks to Ceres.

OLD FAMILIES OF VENICE.

Their Fortunes Are Dissipated and Their Palaces Sold.

Very few of the fine old palaces of Venice belong to the descendants of the families who built and originally occupied them. Very little of the enormous wealth for which Venice was celebrated in the fifteenth century remains. The most of it has been dissipated by the descendants of the men who made it, the same as in England, France and other countries. The rich men of Venice today are an entirely new class of people, whose names do not appear in the Golden Book, which contained a list of the patrician families in Venice who were invited to festivities at the palace. This book was instituted in 1315 and thenceforth until the Austrian occupation was the index and standard of nobility by which all claims to precedence were decided.

Occasionally the grand council, by a vote, rewarded the gallantry or public services of some citizen of humble birth by directing that his name be inscribed upon its pages. None but those whose names were in the Golden Book could use the golden stairs when they entered a doge's palace, and when this right was conferred it was equivalent to an order of nobility in another country. There is one notable exception to the decay of the ancient families, and he is Count Grimani, who traces his lineage back to one of the most famous of the doges, whose portrait, painted by Titian, hangs in the council chamber of the doge's palace. The Grimani palace is on the Grand canal, near the Rialto bridge, and is celebrated for its finely sculptured capitals.

Many of the rich men in Venice today are Jews. They practically control the banking business and manufacturing. They own the fine houses of historical interest and the best paying estates on the mainland in the neighborhood. The present wealth of Venice is invested not so much in real estate as in banking, manufacturing, flour mills, elevators, gas companies, cotton mills, the manufacture of glass and in steamships upon the Adriatic.—Chicago Herald.

MARRIAGE IN ARABIA.

The Wedding Procession an Elaborate and Noisy Affair.

A marriage procession among the Arabs is a very elaborate affair. The camel which bears the bride is decorated with bright henna dye on his neck and shoulders, while there are verses from the Koran inscribed on the hangings. His uncouth legs are often swathed with bright cloths, his head bedecked with plumes and small mirrors, while his back is resplendent with bright colored bits of tinsel, which glisten against a patchwork of many hued cloths. A hood or cage conceals the bride, and no doubt adds to the discomfort of the cramped ride on the beast. There are attendants, and last of all the musicians, chiefly drummers, who attract the crowds by their incessant pounding on small but high keyed instruments.

If the journey to the groom's home is a short one, it is lengthened by stops at frequent intervals, and all the while the lover must not show any eagerness to welcome her, no matter what his feelings may be. The Arab may be affectionate, but he cannot with dignity betray emotion. Among the lower classes buffoons accompany the procession with performing bears or other wild animals, and when the bride is wealthy largess is distributed along the route in the form of clothes or coin. When the groom's tent or fixed home has been reached, the bride is expected to show great reluctance about entering it, and in some cases she has to be lifted by the husband over the blood of a sheep he has just slain.—Woman's Home Companion.

McKinley's First Foot Ball Game.

He was never much inclined, I believe, to take an active part in athletics, though his simple, normal habits of life kept him always in excellent condition physically and mentally. He proved the enduring sturdiness of his frame by his hard service in the civil war, and by the tremendous amount of labor which he afterwards put into the study and presentation of public question. He was, of course, interested in the notable athletic contests that the college boys held, but it was as late as 1894 that he and I witnessed togethed our first game of foot ball—a Princeton-Yale game at New York.

It was a drizzling, cold day, but he watched every movement of the game from the club house with as keen an interest as he gave to a debate in Congress.

When some mysterious movement in a "pile up" was made he would turn and ask me about it, but I had to shake my head and confess it was my first game and that it was all Greek to me.

He told me how he felt like the country boy who went to a college foot ball game for the first time, to see the "real thing." When asked how he liked it, the country boy naively replied.

"They did't have no game, they got into a scrap and kept fightin' all the time when they ought to have been playing ball."

At this foot ball game there was little to foreshadow what was written in the political horizon two years later, but I do recall that he seemed to be especially popular with the sturdy young collegians, one of whom remarked to his companion as they passed by us:

"who is that distinguished looking man—the one that looks like Napoleon?"—Senator Hanna in the National.

Kodol Digests what you Eat

Dyspepsia Cure

You might as well put fuel under a boiler without burning it and expect the engine to run, as to eat food and not digest it and expect to keep up nourishment for your body. You must have nourishment to live and when you cannot digest your food, KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE will do it for you, with no aid whatever from the stomach. It contains exactly the same elements as Nature's digestive fluids and can't help but produce the same results.—David Taylor, Blind Ridge, Pa., writes:—

"I have been afflicted for a number of years with dyspepsia and have tried various remedies without good results but was cured by one bottle of KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE. I cannot say too much in its favor."

It can't help but do you good

Prepared by E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The $1. bottle contains 2½ times the 50c. size.

When you need a soothing and healing application for piles, sores and skin diseases, use DeWitt's Witch Hazel SALVE. Beware of counterfeits.

EDITORIAL.

EDITOR BRYAN says his paper The Commoner will not support any one who was even a lukewarm Democrat at the time of the last national campaign.

THE Elkinites are yet confined to the machine limits. The people not under the spell of its influence, do not enthuse for a cent over the Attorney General's gubernatorial candidacy.

THE United States has in round numbers 200,000 miles of railroad in operation or more than two-fifths of the mileage of the world. Germany is the nearest rival with 32,000 miles. Russia stands third with 30,000 and is pushing forwards with many railroad projections. France, India, Austria-Hungary, British Isles and Canada follow in order. Almost one-third of the world's total mileage is government owned.

IT IS safe to say that when State Treasurer-elect Frank Harris, as a legislator from Clearfield county, made the demand and collected $100 from the Philipsburg State Cottage Hospital for saving for it $2,000 from Governor Stone's veto axe, he did not expect the incident to confront him as evidence to prove the justification for his having been called a "king of crooks" and an "unblushing bribe taker" by a paper whose editor seemed to know whereof he spoke.

IN Nebraska a state bounty of three dollars is paid for every coyote or wolf scalp. Lately, it is said, the bounties have been so much more numerous as to arouse suspicion, and an investigation shows that the reason why wolves are increasing is that people are actually raising them like stock for the sake of the bounty. It would seem that wolf-raising in Nebraska is more profitable than farming or ranching. One man is said to have raised 100 wolves last summer.

SHALL WE FOLLOW THE PRECEDENT?

The appointment of a special embassy to represent the United States at the forth coming coronation of King Edward VII has occasioned no little remark both in praise and criticism. There would be no very serious objections to the dispatch of a special American embassy to witness the coronation of the English ruler but for the precendent which it will establish say's Collier's Weekly and adds; "Shall we send a similar embassy to witness the coronation of the young King Alphonso XIII., which will take place presently at Madrid? If not, why not? It is true that, in the course of our national history, we have had one war with Spain, but will have had two with England. During our struggle for independence, Spain was our ally; England, our enemy. It is also true that, during our Civil War, we suffered no serious grievance at the hands of Spain, whereas the wrongs inflicted upon us by England were assessed by an impartial tribunal at some fifteen million dollars. If we refuse to show the young King Alphonso XIII as much respect as we shall show King Edward VII, the Spaniards will be likely to feel that we have added insult to injury."

PENNSY'S PENSION SYSTEM.

'Extremely interesting is the report of the working of the Pennsylvania Railroad's unique pension system," says the New York World. 'In the past two years it has paid out $536,310 to 1574 retired employees. The road pensions every man in its service who has reached the age of seventy, and every man over sixty-five who, having served it for thirty years, has become physically incapacitated, and is so certified by three examining physicians. The pensions paid by check monthly, are computed at 1 per cent. for every year's service of the average regular monthly pay of the employe for the ten years previous to his retirement. That is to say if his pay has average $80 a month, and he has served thirty years, his pension is $24 a month.

"Eighty thousand men are in the employ of this great railroad which has inaugurated this new departure in American industrial life. Of course they are pleased with it. And it undoubtedly enable the Pennsylvania to get the pick and the flower of railroad workers.

THE CENTRALIZATIONS OF WEALTH.

The World almanac publishes a list of 3,456 millionaires in the United States and it appears that New York is credited with, approximately 1000. Pennsylvania comes next with 369. Massachusetts, Illinois, Ohio, Missouri, Michigan, California and Maryland follow in the order named, the list so far given including those that have over 100 in the state. At the other extreme, the tail end of the list of 3,456, we find North Dakota with but one lone millionaire, while Arizona, New Mexico, Wyoming, South Dakota and Arkansas have two apiece. There are several states that have none at all. The District of Columbia, naturally sought as a residence city, has 49, the largest number in proportion to inhabitants.

RAILROAD strikes are not to be permitted in Italy. The Italian cabinet has announced that as railroad strikes affect great public interests, they cannot be considered in the same category with a strike of ordinary workers, but must be classed as strikes of public servants, and, therefore, punishable under the penal code.

RICHARD HARDING DAVIS, having told how the Greek war, the Spanish war and the Boer war should have been fought, not content with all that, gave a talk in New York a few days ago on the "Next War; How it Should Be Covered."

THE resources of the saving banks of the city of New York alone would pay more than four-fifths of the bonded debt of the United States.

Captain JOSEPH W. MUFFLY, of Iowa, who will deliver his famous lecture, "Spottsylvania," in the Court House, Thursday evening, Feb. 20th, upon the occasion of the reunion in Bellefonte of the survivors of the 148th Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers. Benefit of Gregg Post No. 95, G. A. R. Admission 25c.

CAPT. JOSEPH W. MUFFLY, born 1840, in Pennsylvania; educated in the public schools and Rock River Seminary. Taught school from 1856 to 1859, and was a student in Williamsport Dickinson Seminary 1860 to 1861. He enlisted in August, 1862, in the One Hundredth and Forty-eighth Pennsylvania Volunteers; served as private sergeant major, adjutant and as A. A. A. G., Fourth brigade, First division, Second A. C. from Fredericksburg to Petersburg, until April, 1865. He is a graduate of the Northwestern Business University. Founder and principal Iowa Business College, 1865 to 1872. Deputy clerk, district court, Polk county, four years. Commander Crocker Post, G. A. R., and assistant adjutant general of the Iowa department two years. Has been recorder of the Iowa commandery of the Loyal Legion since 1893. He is an accountant by profession.

A DOUBTFUL REMEDY.

The Democrats want the trusts removed so that, according to their reasoning, competition will regulate things and bring lower prices. Yet the world is getting to believe that a community of interest may accomplish more in lowering prices than will keen competition. In nature competition decides which is fittest to survive, but, after that, the surviving form thrives best when freed from competition, and every farmer knows that if he lets his corn compete with the weeds, or even with too many stalks of good corn in the same hill, he will get no crop. The great problem, then, is not to foster either line of action in the industrial world, but to find the golden mean.

THE Philadelphia Times notes as one of the "queer things" that law officers are at work in that city looking for children to go to school under the compulsory education act, when there is not room enough for the children who try to get into the schools of their own rolition.

SOMETIMES the jokes of one generation become the sober facts of the next. Years ago Bret Harte satirized an attempt to buy the island of St. Thomas and Thomas Nast made pictures of Uncle Sam on board a warship shooting the Spaniards off the island of Cuba. Both jokes have materialized.

THE result of the Harris—Meek libel case can be accepted as sufficient cause for its not having been instituted immediately after the libelous (?) publication—during the campaign in which Mr. Harris prominently figured last fall.

—Moshannon tannery at Philipsburg, one of the Elk Tanning company establishments that has not been operated for a number of years, is being dismantled. Thirty men are now at work removing the large lot of bark, which is being shipped to the tanneries at Tyrone, Hyndman and Falls Creek. It is estimated that it all will require about six months to complete the work of dismantling.

License or No License.

Our neighboring town of Eagleville, known also by the more dignified name of Blanchard, is terribly stirred up over the battle that is being waged against a licensed hotel. In fact, the whole of Liberty township has been thrown into convulsions, as it were.

There are three distinct parties—those positively for the license, those positively against it, and the middle-of-the-road party. The latter are going to considerable trouble to explain their neutral position and their somewhat radical efforts in this direction is what has convulsed the entire township. The question is argued violently and passionately everywhere that men or women meet. The fight is turning friends into bitter enemies, and characters are being scrutinized, challenged and maligned.

This is not as it should be and it is unfortunate. It gives the applicants a splendid opportunity to put up a better fight, while the neutral and the remonstrators are quarreling over the non-essentials. The first named are highly elated over the present situation.

Taken as a whole, it is a bitter, personal fight, and as nearly everybody over there is involved and included in the fray the disinterested witness of the turmoil is compelled to ask himself the question, as it was asked concerning Nazareth of old, "Can any good thing come out of Eagleville?"—Lock Haven Express.

—It's a mistake to imagine that itching piles cannot be cured, a mistake to suffer a day longer than you can help. Doan's Ointment brings distant relief and permanent cure. At any drug store 50 cents.

A Magnificent Vessel.

In 268 B. C., Archimedes devised a marvelous ship for Hiero of Syracuse. Her three lofty masts had been brought from Britain, whereas our ships' masts are of iron or obtained from New Zealand or from Vancouver island. Luxuriously fitted sleeping apartments abounded, and one of her banqueting halls was paved with agate and costly Sicilian stone. Other floors were cunningly inlaid with scenes from the "Iliad." Stables for many horses, ponds stocked with live fish, gardens watered by artificial rivulets and hot baths were provided for use or amusement.—Chambers' Journal.

Longevity.

The span of life is gradually expanding. We live longer and get more out of it than our grandfathers did. Whether the cause of this is a better knowledge of natural law or more skillful surgery we will not undertake to say. At any rate, people think this a pretty good world to live in and want to stay here as long as they can comfortably. The man with 100 birth anniversaries behind him is not such a remarkable fellow after all.—New York Herald.

Which is wiser, to have confidence in the opinions of your fellow citizens or depend on statements made by utter strangers? Read this:

Mr, Walter Whippo of Water street, leading horse-shoer of Bellefonte, says: "I have a good word to say for Doan's Kidney Pills. I was miserable with backache and a lameness across my loins. I knew it was from my kidneys, for I had suffered from it prior to that. Sometimes I could hardly straighten after bending forward which greatly interfered with my work. I learned about Doan's Kidney Pills procured them at F. Potts Green's drug store and began using them. I had taken other medicine and worn plasters but I never had anything act as promptly as Doan's Kidney Pills. I have been quite free from the whole trouble ever since."

Searching For Knowledge.

"I say, pa," began little Clarence Callipers, with the rising inflection of one who earnestly desires to acquire important information, "what"—

"Oh, I don't know!" replied his long suffering sire wearily.

"Yes. But the question I wanted to ask isn't foolish, pa."

"H'm! If it isn't foolish, you may ask it. But, remember, just one question, and no more."

"Well, pa, there are two of 'em that I want to ask. One is, Which is the smartest, the man who knows enough to know that he don't know much or the man who knows enough to look as if he knew everything? The other is, If the end of the world was to come and the earth be destroyed while a man was up in a balloon, where would he land when he came down? And, pa, I don't know which one of 'em to ask."

TRICKS OF THE TRADE.

Cups, Brushes and Sponges That Are Left In Barber Shops.

"What becomes of all the old shaving mugs?" was the question asked the barber.

"What becomes of the owners?" was the response.

Neither side seemed disposed to answer the query, and there was an awkward silence. The barber slapped his razor on the strop, smeared some extra lather on the victim's mouth so he wouldn't be inclined to interrupt and said in a stage whisper:

"Now, I'll tell you, but I don't want it shouted from the housetops. We use the mugs again."

He paused and sighed as he tossed the questioner's head the other way.

"Yes," he continued, "we use them again. We don't like to lose customers; but, if we must lose them, why, we don't mind if they leave their cups, etc., behind. It's surprising how many do; but, then, barbers do mostly a 'shifting trade.' It's no secret that we urge customers to have their own cup. Most of them are satisfied if they have a private cup, brush and sponge. We supply them with the man's name on the cup for $1.50, and our profit on the transaction is 50 cents. When a man has a razor and comb and brush besides the other tools, he generally takes the whole lot away when he's leaving, but countless cups, brushes and sponges are left behind in every barber shop.

"The cups are always good. Many of them contain such common names as John Smith, William Jones, etc., and when some other John Smith or William Jones orders a cup we simply supply him with the cast off one. Sometimes they need a little touching up with gilding; but, on the whole, it's very profitable.

"The brushes and sponges? Oh, we use them on the transients."—New York Telegram.

POULTRY POINTERS.

Ducks and geese need no grain when they have plenty of grass.

Chicken fatten faster on cooked food than on raw because it is more easily digested.

When soft feed is given to either young or old fowls, it should never be thrown on the ground.

When closely confined, the loose grain fed to fowls should be scattered among litter of some kind, so that they can scratch it out.

There is nothing so bad for the health and well being of poultry as confining them in close quarters and preventing them from taking needed exercise.

One of the most important items to insure success in the hatching of chickens in winter is to get the eggs from a flock of healthy and vigorous fowls.

There is better health among roving fowls because they get the food that is best for digestion and get the necessary grit to help the gizzard do its work.

When necessary to administer medicine by placing it in the drinking water, keep the birds from drink for several hours. They are then thirsty and more apt to get a good swallow.

The Last Execution at Tyburn.

The last execution on a permanent gallows in London took place at Tyburn on Nov. 7, 1783, the malefactor being one John Austin, condemned for highway robbery with violence. For centuries Tyburn had been the scene of executions for criminals condemned in Middlesex, and before the erection of the permanent gibbet occasional hangings had taken place, record existing of the hanging of Judge Tressilian and Nicholas Brembre at that place as far back as 1388.

The gallows consisted of three posts, and around it were open galleries, resembling race stands, in which seats were let. On account of the disgraceful scenes on the road, executions were transferred in 1783 to the area in front of Newgate, despite the objections of residents, and on Dec. 3 of that year the first hanging took place there, when no less than ten were executed.—London Chronicle.

Old Delusions.

It is inexplicable how the old delusion that a man cannot eat one quail a day for thirty days holds its own. Any man can eat one quail a day for thirty days. At Lawrence some years ago Will Upton ate two quails a day for more than thirty days. For the first week or two he starved himself with the idea that he must keep up an appetite. After that he sometimes ate three or four of the birds in a day.

Another old fraud on the public is the belief that a horse cannot pull a sack of sand at the end of a two hundred foot rope. Any cow pony in Kansas will go off on a lope with such a sack.—Kansas City Journal.

The "Big Dipper."

In astronomy the "Big Dipper," so called, is in the constellation of Ursa Major, or the Great Bear. The stars forming the tail of the bear also form the handle of the dipper. The first star in the handle is Benetnasch, the second Mizar, the third Alioth. The other four, which go to form the bowl of the dipper, are Megres, Phad, Merak and Dudhe. The two last named are called "The Pointers," because they point or guide the eye to the pole star, which is distant 29 degrees. The top bowl stars are 10 degrees and the bottom ones 8 degrees apart.

A Safer Sport.

"There's one respect at least in which fishing is a good deal safer sport than hunting."

"How is that?"

"We don't make any fatal mistakes hooking up men who happen to look like fish."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A BUDDING HUMORIST.

Merry Memories of a First Meeting With Artemus Ward.

On going into the Cleveland Plain Dealer editorial rooms one morning I saw a new man, who was introduced to me as Mr. Browne.

He was young, cheerful in manner, tall and slender, not quite up to date in style of dress, yet by no means shabby. His hair was flaxen and very straight; his nose, the prominent feature of his face, was Romanesque—quite violently so—and with a leaning to the left. His eyes were blue gray, with a twinkle in them; his mouth seemed so given to a merry laugh, so much in motion, that it was difficult to describe.

It seemed as though bubbling in him was a lot of happiness which he made no effort to conceal or hold back. When we were introduced, he was sitting at his table writing. He gave his leg a smart slap, arose, shook hands with me and said he was glad to meet me. I believed him, for he looked glad all the time. You could not look at him but he would laugh. He laughed as he sat at his table writing. When he had written a thing which pleased him, he would slap his leg and laugh.

I noticed that George Hoyt and James Brokenshire at their tables were pleased with his merriment and indulged in broad smiles. As I bade him and the others good morning he said, "Come again, me liege." I thanked him, said I would and went my way, thinking what a funny fellow he was.

Within a month thereafter appeared in the columns of The Plain Dealer a funny letter signed "Artemus Ward." The writer said he was in the show business, had a trained kangaroo, "a most amoosin' little cuss," some "snaix" and a collection of wax figures, which he called a "great moral show." As he was coming to Cleveland to exhibit, he made a proposition to the proprietor that they "scratch each other's backs"—the publisher to write up the show vigorously and the showman to have the handbills printed at his office and give him free tickets for all his family. So I found my young friend of the gurgle and hay colored hair to be an embryo humorist just bursting into bloom. Artemus, as from that time he was best known, soon had a city full of friends, myself and family among them.—James F. Ryder in Century Magazine.

A Judicial Retort.

Sir William Meredith, chief justice of Ontario, Canada, was formerly a very prominent politician as well as a famous lawyer. He was especially noted for his success as prosecuting attorney, and few criminals escaped conviction when he addressed the jury.

During one of his political campaigns he was speaking at a meeting in the city of London, his native town. The audience was turbulent and he was frequently interrupted. Finally a voice from the gallery cut into one of his finer flights with a sarcastic "Oh, go and get your hair cut!"

Sir William, who wore his hair somewhat longer than is usual, was stopped by a burst of laughter. But as soon as he was able to make himself heard he turned the laugh and won the audience by this reply: "My friend, if I'm not mistaken, I've had your hair cut before this!"—New York Commercial Advertiser.

How She Helped a Young Man.

A druggist in Memphis was holding forth recently on the difficulties which beset a young man in his first struggle with the world. "I had a hard time when I first started in business for myself," he said, apropos of a remark made by one of his hearers. "The public has good intentions toward you, but it sometimes has strange ways of expressing them. An old lady used to come in to buy postage stamps. I observed to her one day that she was evidently a great letter writer. 'Oh,' she said sweetly, 'I don't really need all the stamps I buy here. It's only because I wish to help a young man like yourself, just beginning to build up a business, that I purchase them.'"—Kansas City Star.

Sponge Fishing.

Sponges are gathered by means of a long pole with a hook attached to the lower end, with which the sponge fisherman is very expert. He lies upon his stomach in the stern of a boat looking through an ordinary water bucket with a glass bottom, which does away with the glare from the water and allows him to survey the bottom leisurely while the boatman rows or sculls the boat. A schooner lies at anchor near by, from which a half dozen or more of these small boats fish. It returns to port when it is loaded, or at night, as the case may be.

His Landscapes.

A nouveau riche recently attended a picture sale. A friend who had noticed him at the sale asked afterward, "Did you pick up anything at that picture sale, Jorkins?" and the other responded: "Oh, yes; a couple of landscapes. One of 'em was a basket of fruit and the other a storm at sea."—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

"Ah, my friend," sighed old Skinflynt, who was dying. "I'm going a long, long journey."

"Never mind," replied the friend, who knew him. "It's all down hill."—Philadelphia Record.

COSTLY PLATE.

Some London Companies Have Old and Interesting Services.

Few people, at least in this country, possess plate worth such a fabulous sum as that owned by London's lord mayor during his term of office. Its face value has been computed to be slightly over £20,000, though three times that amount would not buy it owing to the historical interest attached to many of the articles.

The two solid silver soup tureens which are employed at the banquet to distribute 100 gallons of clear turtle to the guests are valued at £500 apiece and are said to have been in possession of the corporation for over a century.

Moreover, there are a gross of silver dinner plates worth £1,500, 200 ice pails valued at nearly £1,000, 200 entree dishes, the cost of which £2,000 would not cover; 80 solid silver meat dishes worth another £2,000, and hundreds of other articles, such as grape scissors, salt cellars, wine cups, waiters' trays, decanter labels, etc., all of solid gold or silver and valued at over £5,000.

This collection of plate is constantly being increased, for every lord mayor at the expiration of his term of office is expected to add an item, the cost of which must not be lower than 100 guineas.

In addition the lord mayor's official regalia is costly in the extreme. The diamond pendent that hangs about his neck could not be bought for £1,000, and his collar cost a quarter of that sum, while his pearl sword necessitated the corporation spending £900 when it was new.

But the other companies in the city possess plate of even greater value. The Goldsmiths, for instance, own the most priceless collection, the worth of which it is impossible to estimate. It includes Queen Elizabeth's coronation cup, for which an offer of £5,000 was refused some time ago. The Fishmongers' company boasts of, among other things, a silver chandelier, and estimates of its value have never fallen below £3,250.—London Tit-Bits.

A Pleasure of Memory.

Drolichon bought a phonograph and insisted upon his mother-in-law having her voice registered by the instrument.

As the good woman refused he added maliciously:

"Oh, come, now; just a few words. You can't think how much pleasure it will give me to hear your voice—when you are gone!"—Paris Figaro.

Why He Renewed His Youth.

"Why, Brother Dickey, I hardly knew you, you're looking so young and spry! What's up now?"

"Well, suh, I'ze studyin' 'bout gittin' married ergin, dat's all."

"Getting married?"

"Yes, suh. I made de 'quaintance er a young gal terday, en she 'lowed dat ef I'd shave off my gray whiskers, en chop off de hair what on my head, en stop limpin' wid de rheumatism, en wear cloze what come out de sto', en smoke se-gars stidder pipe, en stop preachin' 'gin dancin', en secure my life in her favor fer a hundred dollars she'd marry me. Dat how come I look so young!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Harvard University.

Harvard university derives its name from Rev. John Harvard, its earliest benefactor, who in 1638 bequeathed one-half of his estate, amounting to £800, for the endowment of the college. Harvard hall was built in 1765, Holworthy hall of brick in 1812 and Hollis Hall, also of brick, in 1764. Stoughton hall, being of the same dimensions and material as Hollis, was built in 1804, and a writer of 1817 states that "its appearance is somewhat in the modern style."—Boston Budget.

Threw Up the Sponge.

His Loving Spouse (who has been talking for five minutes without a break)—I'd like to know, now, what you've got to say for yourself. When you went down town I told you exactly the kind of bath sponge I wanted, and you wrote it down, and now you bring me this miserable, pitiful, good for nothing. What are you throwing that sponge up in the air for?

Mr. Meeker—My dear, it's the only thing I can do.—Chicago Tribune.

Street Car Straps.

It is not entirely prudent to put your hands in the straps furnished in the street cars for overflow passengers. Turn one of these straps in any car not fresh from the shops inside out, and the reason will be plain. Handled as they are by all sorts and conditions of men, they are really carriers of disease. The abraded skin of your finger may touch an infected spot, and dangerous bacteria may adhere to it, which at the next movement of the hand may be transferred to the delicate tissues of the mouth or eyes.—Exchange.

FOOD IN FRUIT SKINS.

Nutritive Qualities In Them Believed to Be a Brain Food.

There are more nutritive qualities hidden in the skins of fruits, cereals and vegetables than the average person is aware of. In fact, the great bulk of the brain building foods are in the skins of the fruits and vegetables we eat.

If, as Savarin says, "the destiny of nations depends on their food," then the destiny, whether a healthy long life or insanity or suicide of every unit of the United States depends on how he or she is fed.

If the breed so much depends upon food, why should not every person capable of normal thought seek to procure such food as best sustains his or her normality? Brain starvation, through the lack of suitable brain and nerve nourishment in our daily food, is the sole cause of the craving for stimulants to supply, as they do, artificially and improperly what nature has provided in a natural form in the skin of the grape, which contains the best part of the wine; in the skins of all fruits and vegetables, and if not in the skins of the cereals, how comes it that stimulating properties are extracted from them, as the inner kernel, the starch, is devoid of anything other than a heat giver?

It has been proved by chemical analysis and demonstrated by microscopic experiments that the most valuable brain sustaining properties are resident in all skins of cereals, fruits and vegetables, and as an instance of the great difference to the health resultant from partaking or rejecting the skins here is an incident that occurred in India, as told by an Indian officer:

A regiment was stationed in a part of the country where grapes were the chief article of food. The officers, one after another, became so sick as to be invalided as unfit for service, but it being considered remarkable that the troops were all well a commission of inquiry was instituted, when it was found that while every trooper in eating grapes swallowed the skins the officers followed the fashionable habit of rejecting them. It was then ordered that the officers should swallow the skins, which was done, with the result that they immediately recovered.

Thus it will be seen that the skin of the grape, besides being a brain feeder, possesses other healthful and nutritive qualities necessary to the sustenance of the human body. The reason why asparagus, cabbage, string beans, lettuce, spinach and other green vegetables are so wholesome is that the skins are not rejected.—Our Friend.

A Tough Negro.

Stories of brute toughness and Homeric endurance are tenderly preserved in the folklore of the water front—how, for instance, Scipio Flanagan, "the biggest nigger in the business," supported the entire weight of an immense packing case, weighing upward of 1,800, on his prostrate body. The negro held the hand truck to receive the case, which in the hands of half a dozen men was being balanced at just the right angle to slip into place. But it hit the edge of the truck and knocked it away, and the negro unluckily lost his footing and fell flat with the great box on top of him. He shrieked in terror and groaned, it was said, like a siren whistle, but when a gang of fifteen men lifted the thing bodily and pulled him out all he did was to screw his fists into his eyes like a big child, stretch his long limbs grotesquely and return to work. Of course he talked about this feat for many a day.—Frank Leslie's Monthly.

OLD STAGECOACHES.

THE LINE THAT RAN BETWEEN KANSAS AND CALIFORNIA.

It Cost $225 For the Through Trip, and Seats Often Brought a Big Bonus—How One Load of Passengers Amused Themselves.

The stage line between Atchison and Placerville, Cal., which ran daily coaches for about five years in 1860-65, was the finest ever known in the stagecoach business. In equipment no similar line could equal it. It was the greatest stage line on the globe, carrying passengers, mail and express.

In 1864-65 it cost more for meals between Atchison and Denver than the railroad fare now costs, with meals added. The run from Atchison to Denver is now made in something like fifteen hours as against six days in the stagecoach days. At one time the fare from Atchison to Denver was $175; the railroad fare at present is $15. The quickest time ever made by stage between Atchison and Denver was four and a half days. Ben Holladay, owner of the line, traveled by special coaches from Placerville, Cal., to Atchison, 2,000 miles, in twelve days and two hours, beating the regular daily schedule five days. This feat cost Holladay $20,000, but it was a great advertisement for his line. The stages, when crowded, carried fifteen persons, besides great quantities of mail and express.

One of the coaches used on the Atchison-Placerville line is now in the Smithsonian institution at Washington. After leaving Atchison it was operated on the Deadwood line and was several times captured by Indians and outlaws. Once when captured by outlaws it carried $60,000 in gold. In this attack three guards were killed. Buffalo Bill heard that the old coach had been abandoned and went after it, using it for years in his wild west show. In London it carried the Prince of Wales, and all the notables of Europe examined it with interest. On the Fourth of July, 1895, this famous old coach was exhibited with the wild west show at Concord, N. H., where it was made. The owners and employees of the stagecoach factory gave the historic old stage a great deal of attention, and in the parade it bore this sign: "1863—Home Again—1895."

Including Atchison and Placerville, there were 153 stations on the line, the longest in existence (1,913 miles). The fare was $225, or about 12 cents a mile. The stations were from ten to fourteen miles apart. Some days $2,000 was taken in at the stage office in Atchison for fares alone. Each passenger was allowed twenty-five pounds of baggage; each pound of excess cost $1, which was the price for carrying express. The fare to Denver during the war was $175, or 27 cents a mile per passenger. The stages were nearly always crowded, and passengers were often compelled to wait several days at Atchison before they could be accommodated. A minister once refused to travel on Sunday and abandoned his place. He did not get a chance to go until the following Sunday, and this time he concluded that, under certain circumstances, traveling on Sunday was excusable. Sometimes passengers booked for a certain day sold out for a bonus of from $20 to $50 and waited for a later stage.

The quickest route between New York and San Francisco at that time was by way of Atchison. The western terminus of the line was changed from St. Joseph to Atchison on completion of the Hannibal and St. Joseph road to this point, as Atchison was eight miles nearer Placerville than St. Joseph. The stage line ran a little north of west from Atchison, crossing the Big Blue at Marysville, 100 miles west; thence continuing in a northwesterly course up the north side of the Little Blue and over the divide into the Platte valley; thence by way of Fort Kearney, Plum Creek and Julesberg to Denver. The road between Atchison and Denver was in the form of a crescent. O'Fallon's Bluff was 100 miles north of Atchison and Denver. The easiest part of the line was between Atchison and Fort Kearney. The schedule time of the stages was four and a half miles an hour, night and day, including stops. Occasionally the drivers would make fifteen miles an hour, and the passengers thought it very fast. The express messengers received $62.50 a month, with free meals, and were compelled to ride beside the driver six days and nights without rest, except as they could sleep while the stage was in motion. They received a lay over of nine days every three weeks. On going to bed after a trip they frequently slept twenty-four hours without moving. Drivers received from $40 to $75 a month and board. On the main line there were 2,750 horses and mules and 100 coaches. The annual cost of operating the line was $2,425,000.

The passengers were nearly all men, and they had a hard time amusing themselves. A gay party of eight once started from Atchison, and they sang for two days and nights, using ribald words to old church tunes. Finally one man proposed a collection. With the money thus raised they bought a jug of whisky at a station. Then there were a spree and quarreling and poker playing. One man said he had been robbed by one of the players, and he insisted so strongly on a fight that the stage was stopped and a ring formed. The two drunken men rushed at each other, bumped each other down and could not get up. The other men helped the fighters to their feet, and the harmless battle was renewed. Finally the driver would wait no longer, and the stage went on, with the passengers quarreling on the inside. At last they engaged in a general fight and then went off into a drunken sleep.—Atchison Globe.

GERMAN ARMY OFFICERS.

The Abject Deference Shown Them by Civilians Is Amazing.

The respect and deference shown t the German army officer on duty an off duty by his countrymen are wonderful to see, according to a Londo writer. "Civilians, even compatriot of distinction, on entering the dinin room bow to him with formal humility He acknowledges the obeisances onl; with a rigid glare of haughty indiffer ence, though he is politely conscious o the coming and going of ladies. Th German civilian does not appear to b surprised at or to resent being con temptuously ignored by him, but rec ognizes him and looks up to him as superior member of a superior rac and continues to make his obeisances however loftily they are ignored.

"But, while the officer is unable t see the civilian at whom he is lookin point blank, he never misses observ ing the entrance and acknowledgin the salute of another of his own race He rises from his seat and stands stif and erect while the newcomer ad vances and exchanges formal bow and greetings, and as he recovers th erect position from the bow he bring his heels together with a sharp parade click and waits until his superior ha taken a seat before he resumes hi own."

There were tremendous ceremonies in eating and drinking, too, especially in drinking. "Each table group liftec their glasses invariably together, as i at the word of command, taking thei time apparently from the senior pres ent. Having seized their glasses to gether and raised them together and simultaneously drunk, they would sumultaneously finish and then, hold ing their glasses before them, would with great ceremony bow to one another before replacing them or the table. It did not matter whether they were drinking beer or claret o the German champagne, which seems to be the especially smart thing t take, there was the same ceremony When a senior officer went out of th room, all the juniors present rose t stiff attention and bowed as he passed When a junior rose, he made the round of the table on his way to the door and bowed separately, with a spur jingling heel click every time to every other officer."

"I say, pa," began little Clarence Callipers, with the rising inflection of one who earnestly desires to acquire important information, "what"—

"Oh, I don't know!" replied his long suffering sire wearily.

"Yes. But the question I wanted to ask isn't foolish, pa."

"H'm! If it isn't foolish, you may ask it. But, remember, just one question, and no more."

"Well, pa, there are two of 'em that I want to ask. One is, Which is the smartest, the man who knows enough to know that he don't know much or the man who knows enough to look as if he knew everything? The other is, If the end of the world was to come and the earth be destroyed while a man was up in a balloon, where would he land when he came down? And, pa, I don't know which one of 'em to ask."

Shakespeare's Anachronisms.

The very head and front of all offenders in the perpetration of anachronisms was Shakespeare himself. HINTS NATURE GIVES

SYMPTOMS THAT SHOULD WARN MEN OF COMING SICKNESS.

The Significance of Sneezing, Yawning and Recurring Winter Colds. The Meaning of Blue Hands—Apoplexy's Warning Signals.

Nature scarce ever strikes without warning. In so far as disease is concerned it gives clear signs of what is impending days, weeks, months and even years before the attack. If people looked for these signs and took warning from them, they would escape much serious illness and live many years longer than they do. It is indeed remarkable how careless we are in this respect. A man who will anxiously scan the sky for signs of coming rain lest his top hat may get spoiled will never dream of examining his eyes, nose or finger nails for signs of coming illness.

The sneeze, for instance, is very significant. It is always a sign that something is injuring the air passages anywhere from the nose down to the lungs. Should it be only a case of snuff or pepper, of course the sneeze is of no consequence. But often it is an indication of congestion. There is inflammation somewhere, with too much blood, and the object of the sneeze is to give relief by getting rid of some of the fluid. This sneeze is a warning that every prudent person should attend to. It is at least the forerunner of a cold. But it may indicate an approaching attack of bronchitis or pneumonia. When there is much sneezing, accompanied by something like a small shower of rain, the victim will do well to take a warm footbath, go to bed and adopt the other usual remedies to cure a cold.

The winter cold itself is a grave warning. When it recurs two or three times every winter, it is sure to be followed in the end by chronic bronchitis. Once this comes on it is practically incurable.

Men are started on their lives much as a shell from a cannon—with a certain fixed quantity of energy. If disease or accident does not carry them off, they will die some time of what we call old age—in other words, when the energy with which they started is spent. Some have energy enough to carry them over the full century; others have only sufficient to keep them going for ninety, eighty, seventy, sixty or fewer years. Now, early baldness is a sure sign, with some exceptions, that the energy is likely to fail sooner than in the average man. But all kinds of baldness have not this significance. Sometimes the loss of hair arises from scalp disease caused probably by microbes. The warning baldness is that kind which commences about the temples and on the crown of the head and gradually eats its way over the scalp until only a circular fringe of hair is left.

Blue nails, or blue hands, betoken weak or obstructed circulation. They are a warning against overexertion of any kind. The obstruction may occur from disorder of several organs in the body. But most commonly the blueness indicates that the heart is not up to the mark.

Yawning is a somewhat similar warning. It is a sign that the steam has run down and that it is time to go to bed or perhaps to go into the open air. When you sit in a close room, the lungs do not receive sufficient of the vital gas, oxygen. The yawn is then a desperate effort of the lungs to properly aerate the blood, and it warns you to open the windows or to leave the room. When you are out of bed too long or when you have done an unusually hard day's work, the waste products of your body are present in excessive quantity. Then the yawn is a warning to you to lie down and rest.

Most people have a great horror of getting a "stroke" or fit of apoplexy. It is not by any means as unpleasant as the toothache, but the suddenness of it is what appalls. There is really no suddenness about it, however. No disease gives such early warning. A "stroke" is a very simple occurrence and not at all horrible. It results from two or three causes, but the most common one is this: A little artery in the brain wears out and lets some blood escape, which clots, presses on the brain and paralyzes whatever part of the body is governed by the piece of brain pressed upon. Now this artery wears out only in common with other arteries of the body. In some people they all become what is called atheromatous, or hard and brittle. At the same time they become tortuous or twisted. We can see these hard and tortuous arteries on the temples, and then we know it is not safe to do anything which will congest the brain, lest the one little artery there, which is especially liable to give way, shall let the blood escape. Likewise warning is often given by the tiny arteries of the eye. They break and let out little traces of blood, which can easily be seen, but a cold or sleepless night may do the same. When these signs occur—and they occur months and years before the stroke—do not get excited or angry, no matter how great the provocation, do not rush to catch an omnibus or in any way overexert yourself, and do not dine too heartily. By taking the warnings given by nature you will insure yourself against this pleasantest way of leaving the world and be sure of dying of cholera or smallpox or some other respectable disease.—London Mail.

Opportunities He Had Neglected.

"Were you surprised when I proposed?" he asked.

"Well," she replied thoughtfully, "I was not so surprised that you proposed when you did as I was that you did not propose on some previous occasions."—Chicago Post.

CHARLESTON "LOST."

An Episode of the Telegraph After the Great Earthquake.

How powerfully the imagination may be stimulated by a story told in dots and dashes is illustrated by an episode of the Charleston earthquake, relates L. C. Hall. At the moment of the final shock every wire connecting Charleston with the outside world was instantly "lost." And as no other tidings could be had from the doomed city it was as if in an instant it had been swept from the face of the earth. And for many hours Charleston remained literally dead to the world.

The next morning before the average citizen had time to collect his wits the telegraph people had started out gangs of linemen to get the wires in working order. Operators in the principal offices within a radius of several hundred miles were set to calling "C. N." For a long time there was no response, but at last on the wire which I had in charge a slight answering signal was felt rather than heard—faint and flickering, like the first sign of returning life. From that moment my watch was, if possible, more diligent. For an hour or more I called, "Adjusted," and used every effort to revive the feeble pulse. I could fancy myself working desperately to resuscitate a half drowned man. Again I felt the flickering signal, and then once more all signs of life faded away. Finally as the wires were gradually cleared of debris the current began to strengthen, and then came the answering "I—I! C N," weak and unsteady, but still sufficiently plain to be made out.

To me it sounded like a voice from the tomb, and I shouted along the tidings that Charleston was still in existence. Quickly the sounder was surrounded by a throng of excited telegraphers. The Morse was broken and unsteady at first, then the current grew stronger—the patient was growing better—and for a long time we listened to the labored clicking, until at last the worst was known. And at the end of the recital a great sigh went out from the hearts of all of us, as if literally in our presence a long buried city had been exhumed.—McClure's.

NATURAL HISTORY.

Camels are the only animals that cannot swim.

A seal has been known to remain twenty-five minutes under water.

The starfish has no nose, but can smell with the whole of its under side.

The greyhound, which can cover a mile in 1m. 28s., is the fastest of quadrupeds.

Nearly all bottom sea fishes have the power of changing color at will, like chameleons.

A sea anemone, taken from the Firth of Forth in 1828, lived and flourished in captivity until 1887.

Horses, giraffes and ostriches have the largest eyes of land creatures, cuttlefish of sea beasts.

Grizzly cubs born in captivity are almost impossible to raise. Of twenty-three born at Cincinnati only one lived.

The Eskimo dog will eat almost any of the dried fruits. The sour or acid fruits, as the orange, lemon, lime, shaddock, etc., as well as the sour plums and the bitter olives, are rarely eaten.

To protect itself from the rain the orang outang crooks its arms over its head. The hair on the orang's upper arm points downward, while on the lower arm it points upward, the apparent purpose being to shed the rain like a thatch.

Why Did They Abandon Pompeii?

At a period when newspaper discussions were rather vapid, despite the accredited appearance of the sea serpent and the arrival of the large potato, Max Nordau in an Austrian journal propounded a problem that should lead to useful inquiry:

Why was it that the inhabitants of Pompeii did not return to their homes after the destruction of the city?

Of the 30,000 inhabitants a few hundreds at most seem to have lost their lives. The eruption of Vesuvius lasted only a few days. The deposit of lava and ashes was not very thick. The houses might have been easily repaired. Many of them stand to this day. They were beautiful houses, many of them, richly appointed and containing valuables of great price. Had the Pompeiians no love of home, or were they too superstitious, or did their terror at the eruption make them believe the disaster might come again?

Drinking Water In the Navy.

For many years after the close of the civil war water was not generally distilled in vessels of the navy except on long voyages. Later on medical statistics showed that in ships where distilled water only was used there was almost an entire freedom from dysentery and enteric fevers, while these disorders were more or less common in vessels that used water purchased in different ports. Gradually the practice of distilling water for drinking purposes became general, and now there water is seldom purchased, the distilling plants of our ships being ample for all demands.—Argonaut.

Creeds and Trades.

Certain creeds seem to monopolize certain industries. Practically all British manufacturers of cocoa, for example, are Quakers. Then, in London at any rate, a very large percentage of cigar merchants and all the best known manufacturers of Christmas cards are Jews. Whenever a Welshman comes to London to seek his fortune it is long odds on his making a pile either in the draper's or drug store business. Irishmen, probably owing to the fact that they lack the money making instinct, flock to journalism.—London Tatler.

AN UNEQUALED RECORD.

THERE IS A RAPIDLY INCREASING VOLUME OF BELLEFONTE EVIDENCE ROLLING UP FOR THE GREAT MEDICINE, DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE PILLS.

It would seem that hardly anyone can take Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills without receiving marked benefit. The wonderful action of this medicine in putting people on their feet who are in a weak run down condition is the talk of every place they are known. It is only a short time since they first came to Bellefonte yet today they are more in evidence for merit with Bellefonte people than all other medicines combined.

Soloman Garrett of No. 301 Allegheny St., Bellefonte, Pa., says:—"I had been feeling very much run down for a long time. My head ached a great deal and I felt tired and sore all over. I was also bothered with sleeplessness at night. I saw Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills so highly recommended I got a box at Krumrine's Drug Store and they did me a great deal of good. I felt first rate after using them and have no hesitation in recommending them to others."

By calling at Krumrine's drug store information can be obtained regarding this great success of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and how they were first introduced by proof of their merit.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

A Pretty Wedding Solemnized in Presence of Many Friends and Relatives.

Mr. Henry R. Lingle and Miss Elmira Bechdel, of Blanchard, were married Wednesday night at six o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, by Rev. George S. West.

Charles F. Bechdel, brother of the bride, was best man, and Miss Nora Kunes was maid of honor. The ushers were A. R. Moon and Clarence Johnson.

Mrs. Emma Anthony, of Lock Haven, presided at the piano and played the wedding march. The bride wore a beautiful gown of Oxford gray and the costume of the maid of honor was of garnet.

The bridal party took the marriage vows while standing under an arch of evergreens and roses. There were upwards of a hundred guests in attendance to witness the ceremony, many of them being from out of town. The bride's presents were numerous and beautiful.

The bride is the daughter of James Bechdel, and is one of Blanchard's most popular young ladies. Mr. and Mrs. Lingle will reside in Pittsburg, where the groom is employed.

HOUSE AND OLEO BILL.

The Body Passes the Measure by a Vote of 162 to 118.

SOME OF THE FEATURES OF IT

War Claims Also Occupied the Attention of the Body and First Bill for Payment of Spanish-American War Claims Passed.

BIG OMNIBUS BILL PASSED

WASHINGTON, February 13.—The house Wednesday passed the oleomargarine bill. There was no division on the final passage, the real test of strength having been made on a motion to re-commit, which was defeated by a vote of 118 to 162. The provision to require the inspection and branding of renovated butter, which was adopted in committee of the whole Tuesday, was retained Wednesday on an aye and nay vote. As finally passed the bill is somewhat modified from the form in which it was reported from the committee on agriculture. It makes oleo, or imitation butter or cheese, transported into any state or territory for use, sale or consumption therein, subject to the laws of such state or territory, notwithstanding that it may be introduced in original packages, and imposes a tax of 10 cents per pound on oleo made in imitation of "butter of any shade of yellow." When not made in such imitation, the tax is reduced to one-fourth of one cent per pound. The second section is intended to prevent dealers, hotel proprietors, restaurant and boarding house keepers from coloring the uncolored article, by making any person who colors the product and then sells or furnishes it to others a manufacturer within the meaning of the act. Penalties for violation of the act are a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500 and imprisonment for not less than thirty days nor more than six months. The new section relating to the inspection and branding of renovated butter is as follows:

"That the secretary of agriculture is hereby authorized and required to cause a rigid sanitary inspection to be made from time to time, and at such times as he may deem necessary, of all factories or storehouses where all butter is renovated and all butter renovated at such places shall be carefully inspected in the same manner and to the same extent and purpose that meat products are now inspected. The quantity and quality of butter renovated shall be reported monthly. All renovated butter shall be designated as such by marks, brands and labels, and the words "renovated butter" shall be printed on all packages thereof in such manner as may be prescribed by the secretary of agriculture, and shall be sold only as renovated butter. No renovated butter shall be shipped or transported from one state to another, or to foreign countries unless inspected as provided in this section."

War claims occupied the attention of the house after the passage of the oleomargarine bill, and the day was made notable for the passage of the first bill for the payment of claims of United States citizens arising out of the Spanish war. It carried something over $55,000 for the payment of 202 claims for property taken within the United States for use of the army. An omnibus bill carrying claims aggregating $2,114,552 for stores and supplies taken from loyal citizens during the civil war also was passed. These claims were allowed under the provisions of the Bowman act and the bill was identical with one passed by the house at the last session. Two other bills, which have been before congress for twenty-eight years, to refer certain claims for additional compensation by the builders of the monitors Modoc and Casco during the civil war to the court of claims was passed.

Picking up the dollar the farmer started out of the door. Hold on, called the ticket agent, you've forgotten your ticket. Keep it, dern yer, replied the farmer, I don't care to see the other 39.

Brazilian Balm Cures Asthma, Catarrh. 50¢ $1.00

The powder puff may help to hide the ravages of time but it avails little to hide the ravages of disease. When the face is disfigured by eruptions, the treatment must go below the surface to the blood, which is corrupt and impure.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures disfiguring eruptions which are caused by impure blood. It cures scrofulous sores, erysipelas, boils, pimples, eczema, salt-rheum and other eruptive diseases which impure blood breeds and feeds.

"I was troubled with eczema from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet," writes Mrs. Ella Quick, of Cass City, Tuscola Co., Mich. "Could not walk at times nor wear my shoes. Thought there was no help for me—at least the doctor said there was none. I went to see friends at Christmas time and there heard of the good that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery had done for them, and was advised to try it at once. For fear that I might neglect it my friend sent to the village and got a bottle and made me promise that I would take it. I had been getting worse all the time. I took thirteen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and ten vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and used 'All-Healing Salve,' which made a complete cure. It was slow, but sure. I was taking the medicine about eight months.

"I would say to all who read this; try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery before wasting time and money."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cleanse the clogged system from accumulated impurities.

The Meeting of the Bankers.

Group No. 6. of the State Banker's association, met Wednesday at the Bush House, Bellefonte, and there was a good attendance of the members.

Col. James P. Coburn, president of the First National bank, of Bellefonte, made the welcoming address. It was an earnest invitation to the members to make themselves at home in the pleasant capital of Centre county, and also contained much which referred to the methods of business. It was well delivered, worth listening to and favorably spoken of.

J. G. Davis, cashier of the Altoona bank, was elected president, and F. K. Lukenbach, cashier of the First National bank of Philipsburg, was re-elected secretary.

There were representatives present from Altoona, Huntingdon, Tyrone, Bellefonte and other places.

After the usual business was attended to the visitors were escorted to the "Big Spring," which is as clear as crystal, and then back to the Bush House where a magnificent banquet was given. A number of invited guests were also present to partake of the bountiful repast.

Senate Debate on Phillippine Tariff Drawing to a Close.

VOTE LIKELY TO COME THIS WEEK

Mitchell, of Oregon, Delivers a Carefully Prepared Speech in Which He Puts Some Pertinent Questions to the Members.

WHAT HE WOULD GIVE TO FILIPINOS

WASHINGTON, February 14.—While no definite agreement has been reached, a vote on the Phillippine tariff bill in the senate seems to be in sight. It appears likely, judging from a discussion of the subject late in the day's session, that the vote may be had next week, although the matter yet is involved in some uncertainty.

Mr. Teller, of Colorado, concluded his speech Wednesday. He urged strongly that the Filipinos be given the fullest possible measure of self government, the United States simply maintaining a protectorate over the islands. He said he would prefer that this government should withdraw absolutely.

Mr. Mitchell, of Oregon, delivered a carefully prepared speech in support of his amendment to reduce the tariff duties upon Philippine products coming into this country to 50 per cent. of the Dingley rates, maintaining that the United States owed this concession to the Pacific coast states as well as the Filipinos themselves.

Mr. Mitchell in the course of his remarks said,

"I submit that if the policy enforced in the last congress of permitting the products of Porto Rico to come into the United States at 85 per cent reduction of the rates of duty imposed by the Dingley act, and later on entirely free, and this all largely in the interest of the trade and commerce of the people of the Atlantic states, as well as of the people of Porto Rico, then upon what principle of right or justice or equity must the people of the Pacific coast states pay the same rates on Philippine products coming into this country that are imposed by the Dingley act? Why inposed one rule on our insular possessions in the Atlantic ocean and another on our possessions in the Pacific ocean? What occult force, if any, is operating on the congress of the United States, and this too, without congress seemingly being conscious of the fact, which seems to compel the nation's parliament to arrive at such absolute contradictory conclusions? We should give to the Philippines concessions in trade which will instill into their minds encouragement, confidence and hope; which will cause them to realize the wide difference between the iron and hurtful rule of the Spaniard and the beneficient and helpful rule of the Americans."

Changing Time on Dummy Clocks.

If you will look at a dummy clock that is hung out as a sign before a jewelry store you will probably find that the hands are painted on the face of the clock to represent the time as 8.18—eighteen minutes after eight. You will be surprised to know, perhaps, that this time has been used by jewelers since the assassination of President Lincoln in 1865, that being the hour at which the assassination took place. Chicago jewelers are talking of changing the time on their dummy clocks to 3.55, the moment when President McKinley was shot. Some Chicago jewelers have already made the change.

Mr. Swab has had both replated so the weapons look like new.

The Law Construed.

The courts have construed the law in relation to the commissions of tax collectors to mean that a collector is entitled to commission on all the money he collects. This includes his commission, but does not include the five per cent. abatement allowed the tax payers for prompt payment within the ninety days after the first notice of the collector that the duplicates are in his hands.

Barnum's Monkeys

"All well—all happy—lots of fun". That is the regular report from the monkey cage of Barnum's Circus ever since the keepers began dosing the monkeys with Scott's Emulsion. Consumption was carrying off two thirds of them every year and the circus had to buy new ones.

One day a keeper accidentally broke a bottle of Scott's Emulsion near the monkey cage and the monkeys eagerly lapped it up from the floor. This suggested the idea that it might do them good. Since then the monkeys have received regular doses and the keepers report very few deaths from consumption. Of course it's cheaper to buy Scott's Emulsion than new monkeys—and that suits the circus men.

Consumption in monkeys and in man is the same disease. If you have it or are threatened with it can you take the hint?

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle.

SHOT TO DEATH.

Frank Beckwith, of Hannah Furnace Shoots and Kills His Wife at the Home of Lyle Edmundson in Sandy Ridge.

The citizens of Bellefonte were startled Monday to learn that a fatal tragedy had been enacted within the precints of Centre county on Sunday morning, resulting in the death of a woman and the incarceration in the county jail of her assailant. The story of the crime which we have secured from those who are presumed to be in possession of the facts is as follows:

Frank Beckwith, who resides near Hannah Furnace and was in the employ of the Sandy Ridge Brick works, operated by Messrs. Reese & Son, and his wife have had a more or less stormy domestic life ever since their marriage. Frequently the wife left the home of her husband, to whom she was a second wife. It appears that on last Thursday she departed from the Hannah home and went to Sandy Ridge. Beckwith while employed at Sandy Ridge lived at a shanty in Retort. On last Saturday, after his weeks work, Beckwith left for his home at Hannah, arriving there he discovered his wife's absence, assuming that she was at Sandy Ridge he sent her a message in some way unlearned, that if she did not return home by midnight Saturday there would be trouble. At the given hour she had not returned and Beckwith, armed with a revolver, started on foot to Sandy Ridge a distance of 7½ miles by the route he covered, arriving there in the early hours of Sunday morning. He stopped at several houses and demanded admission upon the pretext of looking for his wife. In each instance entrance was denied and information given that his wife was not there. About seven o'clock he reached the home of Lyle Edmundson. In response to his knock on the door Edmundson appeared and dispite his remonstrance Beckwith forced entrance and demanded his wife. She was in an adjoining room and hearing his voice came into Beckwith's presence. He asked her why she did not come home in response to his summons. Mrs Beckwith replied that she did not have the money to do so. She noticing that his manner was threatening started for the door to make an escape. Beckwith at this point produced his revolver and fired at her, the bullet making a flesh wound on her left arm, Mrs. Beckwith reached the yard and was running around to the rear of the house when Beckwith, who had followed her, again fired this time with fatal effect, the bullet penetrating the brain from the back of the head. The murdered woman fell to the ground and died instantly. In the excitement which followed Beckwith left the scene of his crime and it was presumed he went to his boarding shanty at Retort. A posse was formed headed by Constable Isaiah Woodle of Sandy Ridge and proceeded to Retort, Beckwith was not found and the constable with a couple of assistants procured a sleigh and started at once for Beckwith's home near Hannah Furnace. There he was found and placed under arrest. He offered no resistance and showed a willingness to submit to arrest. He surrendered his revolver which he said would be found in his overcoat pocket. Constable Woodle made the arrest about four o'clock on Sunday afternoon and immediately arranged for the conveyance of the prisoner to Bellefonte. The journey was made without incident and Beckwith was lodged in the county jail Sunday night where he will remain for trial.

The murderer is a man about 45 years of age and belongs to a highly respected Centre county family. A family of seven children is left to bear the stigma of the father's crime. Lyle Edmundson, at whose home the tragedy occurred is a man of about 85 years of age and is feeble and infirm. Mr. Edmundson's wife and step-son were in the house at the time of the shooting.

Death of Mrs. David M. Glenn.

Mrs. Kate Glenn, widow of the late David M. Glenn, died at her home on Reynolds avenue at an early hour on Sunday morning after a long and painful illness from cancer of the stomach. Mrs. Glenn was 61 years old on Saturday last. Her maiden name was Kate Raimer and she was born in Lancaster county but spent the greater part of her life in Centre county residing during her girlhood days in Boalsburg where shortly after the war she was married to David M. Glenn whose record as a member of the famous "Buck tail" regiment of the Pennsylvania Reserve gave him the distinction of being one of the best and bravest defenders of the Nation in the dark days of civil strife Mrs. Glenn was all her life a consistent member of the Presbyterian church and a woman of sympathetic nature and charitable impulses. She was a good neighbor, a kind friend and her death will be deplored by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. She is survived by four children: William, of Wilcox, Pa, George, of Bellefonte; Mrs. Ella Dawson, of Axemann and Mrs. Carrie Stover, of Woodward.

The funeral took place from her late residence on Reynolds avenue Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Dr. Laurie of the Presbyterian church officiating. Interment in the Union cemetery.

Warren Burnside Laid to Rest.

The funeral of Warren Burnside, which occurred Friday afternoon, was indeed a beautiful tribute to the memory of Bellefonte's most familiar resident. At 10:30 a. m. short services were conducted at the almshouse for the benefit of the inmates and neighbors, Rev. George Israel Brown, rector of St. John's Episcopal church officiating. At 2 o'clock the body was taken to the Episcopal church and placed in the vestibule where it was viewed for the last time by friends. At 3 o'clock the casket was placed in front of the chancel and the usual funeral service of the church proceeded conducted by Rev. Mr. Brown, who spoke as follows concerning the life and character and example of the departed:

"It is not our custom to give funeral addresses or to preach funeral sermons. But somehow, we feel, do we not? you and I? that, today, it is in some way different.

I want to ask you, men and women o Bellefonte, how it is different. Why does the fact that "Warren is dead" touch the hearts of this whole community?

Why, are we moved to show such honors and respect to his memory, as if some great one had passed away?

Why, is it that we have instinctively felt in the past, that, to call ourselves a "friend of Warren's" was to confer an honor upon ourselves and not alone to him? Was it simply because he had a good memory, and would be the first to remember our faces and to welcome us, after a long or short absence, at the station or on the street? Or was it even, only because he showed his unaffected sympathy at the house of sickness or of death? Was it not rather because we felt him to be a high type of Christian Character. That we gave him our respect and our love; because he was a consistant lover of his God; because he was loyal to his church; because he represented her faithfully, and won others to respect her? To him, she was a very tender "Mother of Souls"; his life was chiefly bound up in hers, he prized the gifts she had to bestow and loved her gratefully for what he received.

Some of you will remember how his heart was set on Confirmation, how the Bishop came and went, time after time, and it was not deemed expedient to give him the blessing he coveted, and how, as others went forward, he sobbed quietly but bitterly to himself. At last a kind Rector and a kind Bishop, accepted his hearts desire in place of intellectual preparation, and Apostolic hands were laid in benediction on his head, giving him the gift for which he longed. Ever afterwards he was a faithful and devout communicant coming forward regularly and gratefully to feed on the "Body broken" and "Blood Shed" of his crucified and ascended Lord. The last, the humblest, and I have sometimes thought the holiest of us all. He could read no word of the Bible and yet his whole life was lived in its Spirit.

Today we are confident, we are sure that his blameless life, has been accepted, and has met with approbation at his Heavenly Fathers hands on high. As for ourselves let us thank our God, for the "good example of this, His Servant" who has now "fallen on sleep."

The whole congregation were the mourners to whom it seemed as if the people of the town generally were joined. The casket was carried out of the church while the verses of the 404 hymn were being sung, beginning:

"I heard the sound of voices,
Around the great white throne,
With harpers harping on their harps—
To Him that sat thereon:
"Salvation, glory, honor!"
I heard the song arise,
As through the courts of Heaven it rolled
In wondrous harmonies.

The floral offerings were many and beautiful: A large bunch of Pink Roses from Mrs. G. Murray Andrews, Pink Carnations and Johquills from Altar Guild and Brotherhood of St. Andrews, White Carnations from H. C. Valentine, Pink and Yellow Roses from Mrs. Wilkinson and Miss Powell, Carnations from the Ladies of the W. C. T. U., Miss Emily Natt, Cross from staff and employees of the REPUBLICAN OFFICE, a sheaf of wheat sent by Mr. Hard P. Harris. When the ladies brought out the flowers given by the Altar Guild and the Brotherhood of St. Andrews, in time for the morning service they found there already the gifts from the Staff and employees of the REPUBLICAN and from the W. C. T. U.

The pall-bearers were the Vestry of St. John's church including Mr. Wm. S. Zellers, Mr. W. W. Montgomery, Dr. George F. Harris, Col. W. F. Reeder, Dr. J. L. Seibert, Mr. J. L. Montgomery, Mr. Edwin Garman and Mr. C. F. Montgomery.

John I. Olewine Hurt by a Fall from a Step Ladder.

Hardware merchant John I. Olewine while at work in his store Monday morning fell from a step-ladder on which he was standing and was precipitated to the store cellar through a trap door that was opened near where the ladder was placed. Mr. Olewine was unconscious when picked up. Recovering shortly after he was taken to his home. While not seriously injured he sustained painful bruises which, in connection with the shock of the fall, will incapacitate him from active duty for a few days. He had a miraculous escape from serious if not fatal injuries and his many friends are thereby rejoiced.

SPRING ELECTION.

The Spring election in Bellefonte on Tuesday was an exceptionally quiet affair. The day was bright and clear but cold, and blustery in spasms. The vote cast was larger than usual at our Spring elections though the full strength of the party vote, Democratic and Republican, was not out.

The contest centered in the fight for Borough Treasurer and Overseer of the Poor. The several candidates waged a stubborn warfare and victory divided her honors. George R. Meek, the Democratic candidate for treasurer, defeated Chas. F. Cook his Republican opponent by a majority of 40. R. S. Brouse, the Republican candidate for overseer of the poor, received a well merited indorsement of his exceptional record as poor overseer and defeated his Democratic adversary, Patrick Garrity, by a majority of 23. The West ward gave a surprise to the people by the election of Dr. M. A. Kirk over C. T. Gerberich for council.

The entire election was free from personalities and bitterness and the result is generally accepted with good will and friendly congratulations to the victors. The political knife was a factor in Tuesday's battle of the ballots. It was used with force and freedom in every ward and accomplished deadly results. The summary of the vote, which follows, shows the activity of the "knife" and a mere glance at the tabulated returns will show the temper of the Bellefonte voter at the polls on Tuesday:

Accorded Extreme Consideration.

No document has ever been handled with more caution by the United States Senate employes than the petition signed by 372 lepers, presented the other day by Senator Foraker. Some of the clerks asked for tongs, while others demanded gloves. The petition came from the leper settlement in Hawaii. The petition prayed that this settlement be not made a national leper colony.—Ex.
